

Nearer Adequate Defense Than Ever Before During Peace Times--Says Weeks

"Before Test," Declares Secretary, "We Had General Plan for Expansion of the United States Army"

URGES CONTINUANCE

Every Unit of Citizen Army Has Own Detailed Program for Growth--Pershing Addresses Marchers

Washington, Sept. 12.—An ununiformed army of plain American citizens, stamped by a reviewing stand here today to be greeted by the plain citizen who is commander-in-chief of all the armed forces of the nation—the President.

For an hour and a half, the tide of marching men flowed up Pennsylvania avenue. It was fringed with the uniforms of the regulars, national guardsmen, marines, and sailors, who gave the spectacle a little of the color of a military ceremony and was supplemented by groups of patriotic women.

President and Mrs. Coolidge stood through all the time the column was passing, flanked by Secretary Weeks and General Pershing and by other high government officials. There were engineer regiments with personnel drawn from power companies and engineering concerns, bakery units filled up by employees of big bakeries, motor transport detachments with full strength drawn from the automobile industry of the city.

When the last unit had moved by to its place on the ellipse, the President and Mrs. Coolidge returned to the White House.

Better Peace Time Defense

The war secretary declared when he realized that a hundred cities and communities all over the United States had held similar demonstrations, he did not hesitate to say that we come nearer having adequate national defense than ever before during peace times.

"Before the defense test," Secretary Weeks said, "we had a general plan for the expansion of the army of the United States. As a result of the test, we are now in a position to announce that we have a more adequate defense than ever before during peace times."

Mr. Weeks expressed the hope that citizens committees which conducted the tests today throughout the country would become continuing organizations in their communities, adding that the defense test might well be repeated at frequent and definite periods.

The defense test has not had the effect on foreign nations anticipated by the pacifists, he added. "There has been more peace and disarmament talk in Europe during the last month, while the pacifists were claiming that the defense test would be a setback to such movements than ever before in the world's history."

over the country communities have taken great interest in the test and have had excellent demonstrations," the statement added. "The results obtained are highly satisfactory to the department."

AM Units Near War Strength.

The figures received from corp area centers in the preliminary report did not permit of an accurate estimate of the total one-day strength of the military units, although it was indicated that almost all of them had been filled to war strength or nearly so, which would mean approximately 2,000,000 men enrolled. The department was also advised that 40,000 nurses were available for emergency duty and "that more than 75 per cent of them reported during the day."

In concluding the defense program tonight in radio addresses, Secretary Weeks and General Pershing spoke over telephone lines connecting over 55,000 miles of wire from coast to coast, their remarks being picked up by radio broadcasting at points from New York to San Francisco. It has been estimated that not less than 20,000,000 persons "listened in" on the addresses, which were devoted to expressions of gratification over the loyal co-operation the war department had received in working out its defense test plan.

At the conclusion of his brief remarks dealing with the defense test exercises, Secretary Weeks introduced General Pershing with a tribute to the services rendered to his country by the retiring general of the army.

Washington, Sept. 12.—President Coolidge expects to speak in Philadelphia on the night of September 29 at the exercises celebrating the 150th anniversary of the meeting of the first Continental congress, although he has not yet definitely accepted the invitation.

Today that he expects to announce his decision very soon on the tariff commission report on sugar duties, a reduction in which is understood to have been recommended by a majority of the commission.

Mr. Coolidge expects to confine his speaking engagements to occasions to which he has been invited as President and not to make any political speaking tour.

In this connection, he told friends today, many such invitations have been received, but he had no plans for any other addresses outside the city. New York's Defenses Bombarded by Make-Believe Hostile Planes, While Forts Reply With Black Smoke

INDUSTRY READY

Boards of Strategy Compute War Needs, Allocate Contracts, and, on Paper, Start Filling Needs

New York, Sept. 12.—The nation's metropolis put on war paint today and, just for fun, played it had been called upon over night to muster all resources to the defense of an enemy invasion.

Coast defenses were bombarded by make-believe hostile airplanes dropping flour bag bombs. Forts of the harbor belched forth harmless black smoke in retaliation.

Human elements of warfare, in full uniform, marched through the streets in step with martial music; chiefs of industry sat at boards of strategy, solemnly mobilizing, on paper, war's material requirements.

Church goes, attending special services, were admonished to shun alike the war slacker and the vote slacker. Admirals and generals addressed cheering throngs in all the parks and public meeting places. From one sunrise to one sunset, the armories felt once more the thrill of their importance.

Defense day officially got under way at Fraunce's tavern, where thousands met for parade formation at the spot where George Washington long ago bade farewell to his officers at the close of a war that was not make-believe.

Sham Battle at Fort Wadsworth.

The parade wound through the streets of financial Manhattan to the steps of the old sub-treasury. There, in the shadow of a huge statue of the first president, a patriotic service of songs and speeches was participated in by such milling thousands that mounted police and reserves about were called to keep traffic lanes clear.

Similarly pictures and demonstrations were staged throughout the city during the noon period. At Staten Island there was a huge parade of military and civilians, terminating at Fort Wadsworth in a sham battle.

Meanwhile, squadrons of army trucks drove up from the Battery and along Broadway, accompanied throughout the route by bands and uniformed marchers, while off on a side street, the foremost captains of industry—potential dollar-a-year men—met at the Engineers' society's buildings as boards of strategy to compute war needs, allocate contracts for munitions, and, on paper, to set the wheels of industry running at top speed to turn out the maximum of war supplies.

Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the United States Steel corporation, headed the advisory board of captains of industry which, under the direction of war department officers, was charged with determining how much war material could be turned out by manufacturers of this district on emergency notice, and how soon.

SECOND POLITICAL ASSASSINATION OF SUMMER IN ITALY

Casali, Fascist Deputy, Shot in Trolley Car on Way Home in Rome Suburb

CROWD THREATENS SLAYER

Carabinieri Arrest Him After Chase by Passengers, but Have Difficulty in Protecting Him

(By the Associated Press.)

Rome, Sept. 12.—Italy suffered another political crime—the second this summer—in the assassination today of Armando Casali, a Fascist deputy, by a young carpenter named Giovanni Corvi, who declared that he committed the deed "to avenge my brother, in idealism, Matteotti."

Coming at a time when the country is particularly nervous over the political situation, the assassination has produced a grave impression. The newspapers lost no time in appealing to the population to remain calm, lest the country be plunged into further bloodshed. The council of ministers took immediate measures to maintain order and prevent reprisals.

The shooting of Deputy Casali took place this morning while he was riding in a street car from his home in a suburb, accompanied by his 14-year-old daughter. The assassin leaped upon the car, pulled a pistol from his pocket, and fired three times at close range. Two of the shots lodged in the deputy's head. He crumpled in his seat, while Corvi, brandishing his revolver, jumped to the ground and started to run. He was pursued by some of the passengers until he finally dropped the pistol and held up his arms. Carabinieri arrived in time to arrest him, but they had difficulty in protecting him from the angry crowd.

Casali was taken to a hospital, where he died a half-hour later. He was director of a number of important commercial firms and from the inception of Fascism was one of its most popular supporters.

PERSHING ENDS LONG YEARS OF ARMY CAREER

Today at Noon He Automatically Goes to Retired List—Works on Defense Cause Until Late Last Night

TESTS TELEPHONES

After Speaking of Day Ends, General Calls Up Corps Areas of Country and Gets Personal Check

Washington, Sept. 12.—John J. Pershing bade a soldierly farewell tonight to comrades of the army to which he has given all the active years of his life.

Tomorrow, at noon, on the with anniversary of his birth, he will pass automatically to the retired list. To the last moment tonight, he worked hard and long for the cause of national defense, to which he turned with single-minded vigor when the great army he commanded in France had passed back to civil life, its victory achieved.

There will go to the nation presently an executive order signed by the President, telling of this soldier's retirement and his services to the flag. But tonight, it was to old friends, army comrades, some of them since cadet days at West Point, and through them to the rank and file of the regular forces, that Pershing said goodbye, his words being carried by radio to listeners everywhere.

Talks to Corps Area Commander.

Brigadier General J. J. Carty of the officers reserve corps, when the formal defense day speaking was done, told General Pershing the day would be incomplete without a test of America's electrical communications. He turned to the telephone and called in succession points on a 3,000-mile stretch from Washington to New York and thence to San Francisco. The responses were instantaneous, and then he called the roll of corps area headquarters back from west to east. The major general in command replied in person, Morton's voice from San Francisco, coming booming in over the wire, then Duncan from Omaha, Hale at Chicago, and Ballard from New York.

Ballard sought to reach to his chief a song he declared Pershing had sung in their cadet days at "the Point." "Heart beat n'er won fair lady," he said the title was, but Pershing laughingly disclaimed knowledge of the tune and Ballard sang it lustily over the wire to remind him.

But Pershing's heart was wrapped up in the defense test, and from each general he sought news of the day. They answered with encouraging reports, each enthusiastic and to each Pershing gave personal thanks and congratulations.

Then Pershing bade them farewell.

AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Do you think a natural left-hander should be encouraged to play golf that way or should he switch to right-handed form?

Answered By

BOB McDONALD

Winner of the Metropolitan Open championship, 1921 and 1923. One of the longest drivers in the game though using only a 1 1/2 ounce driver.

HARRISBURG WINS

Remarkable Catch by McCormick in Ninth Prevents Oneonta From Tying the Count With Two Down

Oneonta Holds Counts to Two Hits, One Run in a Bad Hop, Used Ninth When Home Club Got Two Men Out and Led on Second and Third—Crowd Kept on Edge Constantly by Oneonta's Play and General All Around Good Work by Both Teams.

Hitting the ball much more often and to far greater advantage, Harrisburg took the second game of the series from Oneonta at Nashua park by a score of 2 to 0. Ollinger had all the better of the argument from the first. He permitted but four hits, two of which came in the ninth. The first safe blow secured off his delivery was due to a bad hop. The crowd was kept constantly on edge by the close plays and general fine work.

The climax was reached in the last of the ninth when, with two down and men on second and third, Shephardson hit what had all the appearance of a triple between left and center, only to see the fielder bring forth an almost super-human effort and make a wonderful catch of the fly near the fence.

Hughes in the first half of the same inning had appeared a hot line driver with his gloved hand for an out. Hughes also caught another hot liner earlier in the game. Buskey, playing right field, made the third out of the sixth by catching an especially difficult fly in the line of right field fence.

The first run was secured in the second after two were down. Hill smashed out a triple to center and Schubert followed with a double across third base to left. The second tally came with one down in the seventh. Further got a single to left field, near the foul line. Hill hit one toward Topel that took a wild leap over his head for another two base climb. After that the Senators filed the bases but the two needed outs were obtained in time to prevent further scoring.

Jim Mahady, formerly of Unadilla, has been selected by the Harrisburg club to twirl today's game. Clarke promises absolute that the heaver of punning shots will be in the box. Manager Thomas has announced Clark as his choice. Should the game today be postponed for any reason, a double header will be played on Sunday, beginning at 2 o'clock. Sunday will see the completion of the baseball season in the New York-Pennsylvania league.

Puts Port Jervis on Map

NO DEMPSEY-WILLS BOUT YET

Richard Not Greatly Impressed by Work of Negro in Victory Over Argentine—May Stage Several Elimination Fights to Determine Challenger.

(By the Associated Press.)

New York, Sept. 12.—The complexion of the heavy weight fight situation underwent a radical change today as a result of Harry Wills' surprisingly decisive victory over Luis Angel Firpo last night at Boyle's Thirty Acres.

The Argentine's crushing defeat, it seemed certain, had eliminated the probability of a sequel to his dramatic battle with Jack Dempsey last year, but Wills, despite his victory, was not considered to have improved his chances of gaining his much sought title match with Dempsey.

This view was shared by Tex Rickard, who declared he was not impressed by Wills' showing and has made no plans for a match which would bring the negro and Dempsey together. It would be a year before such a bout could be staged, the promoter intimated, even if he were ready to put it on.

In the meantime, Rickard indicated he might stage several additional elimination contests before finally picking the champion's next challenger. Wills, Jack Bonahue, hard hit, stayed 15 rounds with Dempsey last year, and possibly Firpo, will figure in further tests.

GERMAN SCHEME IS FOILED BY A DRUG

Sleeping Sickness Cure Bars Dicker for Colonies.

Toronto, Ont.—Germany has lost what little chance she had of recovering her African colonies by trading off for them the formula for curing the sleeping sickness, for France has now the same remedy, or, as the drugists say, "something just as good." Bayer 205 has a rival in Pasteur 308. Such is the announcement of Dr. H. E. Dale, head of the national research council, London, physiology section, here at the meeting of the British Association for the Advancement of Science.

When Africa had been partitioned by the allied powers they found much of their territory becoming unmanageable by the spread of the sleeping sickness, which devastated a belt 2,000 miles long and in places 100 or 200 miles wide, stretching up the Congo from the Atlantic almost to the opposite ocean. The disease was discovered to be caused by the trypanosome, an infinitesimal wriggler carried by the tsetse fly and infecting the blood of man and beast.

German chemists set about to find a drug that would kill the creature without harming its host and after fifteen years of effort succeeded. But meantime Germany had lost her African possessions.

The formula for Bayer 205, or, as it is now called, "Germoxin," was kept secret, but it was intimated that it would be disclosed if the allies would return the German colonies, amounting to 1,000,000 square miles. The allies showed no eagerness to buy the recipe at this price, but not their own chemists at work on the problem, following such chase as could be obtained from the former Bayer patents.

New Fourmest, working in the Pasteur Institute at Paris, has found that his 308 preparation has "similar and probably as valuable properties" as Bayer's 205.

Injected into the blood it will not only drive the creature from the trypanosome in a few days but render it immune to further infection for months afterward.

No Match for Wolf

No dog on four legs, unless he is third of life, says Nature Magazine, has a right to match himself against a full-grown North American timber wolf.

Soap in the Handle

A shaving brush with its handle containing liquid soap, which can be shaken into the brush drop by drop, is a recent invention.

HAS UNUSUAL OPPORTUNITY.

One Prince of Wales and World Fliers Both the Same Day.

Undulla, Sept. 12.—Paul Carney, who is in the aviation school at Mitchell field, has written his mother a very interesting letter about the world fliers at that place. Paul was one of the military police detachment required to keep the large crowd away from danger. He could appreciate the wonderful stunts done by the aviators as he is a student of the same art. Among the throng he saw the Prince of Wales, who seemed to attract as much attention as the fliers did. He very proudly writes that he wrote his name on one of the wings of the first plane to make a world trip. He said the spectators ranged all the way from the Prince down to street bumper.

Birthday Surprise.

The Thimble club celebrated the birthday of two of its members on Thursday. This was not the exact date of either, but fitness in the family had caused a postponement of these festivities. Mrs. B. M. Fecor was pondering deeply on the subject of supper for her family, when her doorbell rang, and her problem was solved. Two other nice members were there with well filled baskets, and proceeded to prepare an elaborate feast. The hostess was happily surprised, but it had been necessary to notify the other honored member, Mrs. William Hanford, who was not surprised. The last course consisted of a number of unique and amusing gifts for the two ladies. A beautiful birthday cake was a very attractive part of the menu.

MRS. YOUNG ENTHUSIASTIC

Cannot Praise Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Enough. Sick Women Read This Letter

Charlotte, S. C.—"I was completely run-down and not able to do my housework. I just dragged myself around and did not have energy enough to get up when I got down. I read advertisements of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in your books and learned about it. I got benefit from the very first bottle. I continued to take it for some time, and now I am doing all my own work, even washing and ironing, and never felt better in my life. I tell all my friends that the change in my health is due to but one thing and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. Anne Young, 16 Amherst St., Charleston, S. C.

The reason for such a letter from Mrs. Young is apparent. She got well and is grateful. Recently a nation-wide canvass of women purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was made, and 98 out of 100 reported that they received benefit from taking it. Just because the Vegetable Compound has been helping other women is a good reason why it should help you. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Shew Hollow Man Falls Before Mowing Machine—Other Stamford Notes.

Stamford, Sept. 12.—About eleven o'clock Thursday morning, Ward Wells, a Shew Hollow, Schoharie county farmer, had his right leg severed by the knives of a mowing machine. Mr. Wells, aged 35 years, son-in-law of Wm. Henry Decker was driving a mowing machine on the Decker farm when in some manner he was thrown from the machine, the knives severing the right foot at the top of the shoe, making a clean cut. Dr. J. E. Safford of Stamford was summoned and assisted by Dr. D. Campbell, of Stamford, the leg was amputated to allow for the proper closing of the wound, and at this writing Mr. Wells is resting as comfortable as could be expected under the circumstances.

Large Registration at Seminary.

The total registration of Stamford seminary for the first few days of school was 237. In the High school or academic department the registration numbered 94, the largest in several years for the first week. Of those entered, 50 are non-resident pupils, while 44 are from the school.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION.

The attention of residents of Otsego and Delaware counties is particularly called to the primary election, which will be held on Tuesday of next week. Owing to the fact that there was no great interest felt in the election in 1922—an off year—the vote and therefore the party registration was smaller than usual, this especially affecting the city of Oneonta, where personal registration is obligatory. In other election districts, however, there was inadequate party enrollment and consequently there will be but small vote. Doubtless there will be many voters who will feel that they should be able to cast a ballot at the primary election for the candidate of their choice, but in fact in most instances there is no one to blame save themselves. Had they enrolled as members of either party last year they would be entitled to vote next week.

It is therefore urged that all who are enrolled as party voters attend the primaries next week, and that all who desire to have something to say about nominations next year see to it in the city of Oneonta that they are so enrolled on registration days in October, or if they are not residents of this city or any other township that they enroll on election day. It is a duty which the individual voter owes to himself and to his country if he would exercise the full duty of citizenship.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

The thousands who took part in the Defense day parade in Oneonta yesterday, and the multitudes which thronged every street along the line of march were evidence enough, if need there were, that whatever others may think, and whatever in other countries may be the sentiments of the people as regards their own government, in America the spirit of loyalty endures in the long line of the parade were included veterans of three wars, members of military organizations, citizen groups and clubs, public officials, and pupils of the schools, all filled with this love of country and eagerness for her welfare, which, like the white cliffs of Albion, in the words of Shakespeare, speaking of England, serve "in the office of a wall against the envy of less happier lands."

It is not so certain that there is young or old any spirit of loyalty greater than that which now burns within the breast. But there is need of keeping that fire alive, and need moreover in this way of serving notice to those who are our enemies or might become such, that when there is need for defense, America will be ready, and moreover that they will favor such degree of preparedness now as will make the task more speedy and less difficult when comes the hour of trial. And what the parade taught yesterday in Oneonta was taught also by carried rank and flaming speech throughout this broad country.

HEELS AND BUSINESS

"Shoe styles in Germany," says a Berlin writer, "have been inclined to fluctuate with the ups and downs of the German mark. When the mark was on the toboggan, the women wore higher heels than at any other time. But with the coming of the rentenmark which has stabilized the currency, the Germans have become more solid all around and now a great many women wear flat, solid heels."

So here is a financial and business barometer that no economist has ever thought of before, and one that he who runs or who observes a woman running, may read. High heels go with inflation, speculative prices and general shakiness of the economic system. Business conditions are aptly characterized by women hobbling along on two-inch stilettos, or toe-dancing through the streets because their heels give no support. Business soundness is typified by heels, low broad and solid enough to support the weight of the human body properly, in standing or walking.

The theory is worth testing, anyway, and easy to test, thanks to present styles. Observation in this country tends to support it. With a financial situation as solid as Gibraltar, and business setting new into reassuring stability, we find that our American women are wearing the most "sensible" heels worn since pioneer days.

THE SCHOOLS OF WALTON.

Year's Work Begins Monday with Usual Attendance.

Walton, Sept. 12. — Walton village schools opened September 8 with a total enrollment of 222, of which 221 are in the high school. Of this number, 159 are non-resident high school pupils. The faculty numbers 49, of whom three are new high school teachers and one a new grade teacher. The teachers' training class now numbers 28, with more pupils expected and the vocational courses are also popular.

During the year 1923-24 fifty-five graduates or former students of the Walton High school were attending colleges or professional schools elsewhere. The number of graduates now holding important educational positions is large.

Howard B. Townsend, a Yale graduate of last experience, is the supervising principal.

SUGGESTIVE CLIPPINGS

Arbitration and War.

Even if arbitration failed utterly to remove the underlying causes making for war, it would be of enormous benefit to dispose of provocative incidents without an explosion. That the proposed plan has its limitations is as obvious to its supporters as to its critics, but it may fairly be urged that there are in history few cases where a nation has been under such urgent moral or material compulsion to declare war that it could not afford to wait a little and to submit the supposed necessity to arbitration. Benjamin Franklin, in a homely on thrift, said that he would not ask his disciples to give up a desired luxury, but merely to defer its purchase until tomorrow. If arbitration can always persuade governments to defer the costly luxury of war until tomorrow it will be well worth while—Springfield Republican.

Thinking Americans.

Middle-aged men who have noticed with humiliation that their sons are half a head taller than themselves will not take much stock in the lament of a distillation of Battle Creek that the people of America have lost two inches in stature since the Civil war. He says that in the early '40s a height of over six feet prevailed. Persons who have attended Grand Army encampments have seen few veterans more than six feet tall but a great many no taller than General Grant.—New York Herald-Tribune.

Selling Their Diamonds.

A news item says Russians are selling their diamonds at fifty dollars a carat. It may be that some of the former possessors of wealth will have more use for diamonds than for food, but at present a square meal is worth more to them than the things they cannot eat, and they cannot emigrate away from their misery. The fate of Russia is not a general leveling of all people to the same standard of comfort, but suffering for everybody except those who stand in with the dictators and their official followers.—Wilkes-Barre Record.

Quite Obvious.

It is quite obvious that there is no constitution at all unless there is some authority to say whether congress or the president has violated it. If the courts cannot declare an act of congress to be unconstitutional, then there are no limitations upon congress, it can do anything it likes.—Philadelphia Record.

Popular Condition.

Henry Ford has started a spirited discussion as to what constitutes a New England breakfast. We vote for ham and eggs as the piece de resistance.—Concord Monitor.

Might Be Worse.

Of course it is all wrong for so many adults to have the mentality of children, but just suppose they had the vocabulary of adults! —Cleveland Times-Commercial.

Last Week's Highway Construction.

The following bulletin shows the state highway construction during the week ending September 8: Contracts under way, 300; number of pavements laid, 1,200; square yards of pavement completed during week, 219,700; during season, 3,509,421; maintenance force employed by state, 4,883.

The above yardage represents 21.72 miles of completed pavement for the week and a total of 143.28 miles for the season. The yardage laid during the week is considerably lower than that of past weeks due to rain and Labor day.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barber, M.D.

USING THE WHIP

You hear the expression "assist nature" in the treatment of physical ailments and it is interesting to see the difference between the method used by some people, and that of others.

One man's idea of helping nature throughout the day is about as follows:

When he wakes in the morning he immediately wants a couple of strong cups of coffee, to sort of "wake him up." At lunch time he thinks a little "drink" might help digest his food. After lunch a couple of popsin tablets are in order to help nature digest the meal.

At 4 o'clock he wants some tea, coffee, or something stronger, to hold him till dinner time.

Before dinner he wants something to give him an appetite.

A few minutes before bedtime he takes a purgative to insure intestinal action.

After he gets into bed, and has read a short time, he takes a couple of tablets to "set him off to sleep."

This is a true picture of some folks, and but a slightly exaggerated picture of others.

Take the other fellow.

To get himself really awake he takes three or four minutes exercise, followed perhaps with a one minute cold shower.

He has a natural readiness for breakfast, and needs no digestive tablets. He tries to get a short walk, or five or ten minutes walk before lunch.

No need for appetizers because he has one of his own.

He tries to get a walk before dinner at night with a short rest before eating. After dinner, a half hour with the paper, and he is ready for the evening's doings, whether mental or physical.

He needs no purgative, nor does he need a sleeping powder.

Now you know there is no need to compare the wisdom of the one with the foolishness of the other. It is all very simple and true.

It is just like using a whip with a horse. When you get the animal or work out of him, when the whip is in constant use. He only works when under the whip.

The other horse works without the use of the whip.

Then when the whip is used, it gives the necessary and immediate results.

Mrs. L. C. White and Mrs. V. L. Gorman returned last evening from Middleburgh, where they passed Sunday with friends.

Herman Mendel and friend, Dr. Benjamin White, of Cooperstown, were down from Cooperstown yesterday to see Prof. L. B. Mendel of Yale university, who is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Mendel.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. George D. Baird and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Lane took a very enjoyable auto ride to Morris, New Berlin and Mt. Upton, returning via Sidney and Unadilla. The run from Oneonta to Mt. Upton, a distance of 28 miles, was made in two hours and 30 minutes.

THE GUIDE POST—

BY Henry and Tertius VanDyke

DEMOCRACY IMPERILED BY IGNORANCE

Put to silence the ignorance of foolish men.—1 Peter 2: 15.

The selective draft of the World War uncovered the ugly fact that about twenty-five per cent of the men of America between eighteen and thirty-five years of age are unable to read a newspaper or write a letter.

They cannot even write their own names.

There are seven and a half million people in the United States over sixteen years old who can neither read nor write English or any other language.

What was democracy thinking of when it suffered this perilous bulk of ignorance to grow within its own body?

Are the national institutions in which we take such a just and honorable pride safe in the hands of men and women whose minds are left in darkness and whose moral training is committed to chance or charity, while we use their bodies to work our farms, dig our ditches, build our railroads, and run our factories?

We are breeding a Helot class of our own flesh and blood.

We are ignoring the rightful claim of every citizen to be prepared for the duties which the state lays upon him.

We are debating the human character of the republic.

We are laying unshaken bricks in our foundations and building our walls with untempered mortar.

We are hanging up at the doors of our temples piles of timber and quick flaming fuel, ready for the torch of the anarchist or the incendiary slow match of the cunning usurper.

We are converting the solemn duties of universal service.

For every soul denied the right to search the flag, will be its secret foe.

Proved JEWETT

PAIGE BUILT SIX
'ONE BILLION MILES BEYOND EXPERIMENT'

New Autumn Green and Orange Beauty Now with Balloon Tire Comfort

JEWETT'S staunch chassis, its bulky big six motor—have proved all round dependability, "rightness" of design. Jewett owners know no need of radical change for finer performance, greater comfort, freedom from care, lasting goodness! All these are proved!

New Colors

Now—Jewett has added smart new colors—Autumn Green bodies striped in orange. And balloon tires give the last touch needed to Jewett's comfort.

What does Jewett's big power mean to you? It means ability to perform! To climb hills easily in high gear; pass others; get away first in traffic; pull slowly in high when the going is bad. Some try to get this power by spending up a small motor. But how long would you expect a small boy to last at a man's job? Jewett's 50 h.p. Paige-built motor is big! It gets its big power from size. So it does its work without straining. That's why it lasts long!

Jewett Six is sturdy in every part—2885 lbs. of bulkiness. That's 280 to 400 lbs. more than "light sizes." Jewett's frame is 6 inches deep. All-steel universal joints. Heavy duty axles.

Try a Ride in Jewett

We suggest that you drop in and see the Jewett in its brand-new dress. The women folk will love its smart appearance. Take them for a ride. You drive, of course. You'll get a big thrill from Jewett's sparkling performance, its ability, its remarkably easy handling. And you'll all appreciate Jewett's easy riding.

THE PRIMARY ELECTION

Attention of Oneonta Party Voters Called to Tuesday's Election.

On Tuesday next, from the hour of 12 m. to 9 p. m. the primary election for the purpose of naming party candidates for various district and county offices will be held. Designated places for these elections in the six wards of the city of Oneonta appear in a notice published in another column.

On the Democratic ticket there is no opposition for any position on the official ballot, and therefore it is not likely that any great number of Democrats will vote. On the Republican ticket there are three party nominations being competed for, and therefore it is probable that a large proportion of a somewhat meager enrollment will vote.

The opposing Republican candidates are Messrs John D. Clarke and Harold S. Tolley for Congress, George L. Boakes and Adrian A. Pierson for county judge and Melvin J. Emsay and Floyd J. Card for superintendent of the poor.

IN READINESS FOR FAIR

Knicker in All Departments Large, with Midway Filled to Overflowing—Activity at Grounds Commencing Today.

Today and tomorrow will witness the arrival at the Central New York fair grounds of many of the concessions and exhibitors for the annual fair which opens on Monday, entrance day. Tomorrow will be Oneonta day, when many will secure their first glimpse of the grounds (this season).

Things are in ship shape with many improvements noticeable and the visitors will find the midway filled to overflowing, the association having for weeks been obliged to turn down applicants for space thereon. Rides will be abundant with the Ferris wheel, the merry-go-round, whip and the sea planes whirling all the time. For the youngsters there will be a bunch of Shetland ponies, which they may ride for a small fee.

The list of entries for the racing events, published in The Star of yesterday, discloses an unusually large number of horses, some of which are now at the track stables ready for the first call of the starter. The special attractions which have been booked are all highly recommended as being first class and there will be no dull moments for those who expect the fair to provide the very best in the way of outdoor vaudeville and other features.

Practically all of the concessions have been taken by those who held them last season, the hot candy privilege being one that goes to a new comer who promises to give the people the worth of their money. Last but by no means least the old familiar but ever satisfying balloon ascension with parachute descent will be seen. If you miss the fair you will not be prepared for the end of the summer amusement season. With weather favoring it, it is expected that record crowds will be present.

ORAS K. CHAMPLIN

Makes His Annual Fair Week Appearance at the Oneonta Theatre.

At the present time, while it is almost impossible for the producer of Broadway shows to send them on the road on account of the cost of production, railroad fares and expenses in general, it is pleasing to note the fact that Mr. Champlin, a well known stock manager, has been able to secure for his annual tour such well known Broadway successes as he is offering his patrons and to prove that he was not doing this, in every town where his company has played, packed houses have been the consequence.

The Charles K. Champlin company will appear at the Oneonta theatre for the whole week commencing Monday matinee, when will be presented the great New York play entitled, "Thank You." On Tuesday will be given "The First Year," a play full of heart interest. On Wednesday, the great laughing success, "Just Married," one of the funniest and cleanest farces written in years, will be presented. On Thursday, one of the most discussed plays of the age, "Red Light Annie." On Friday one of the best of all the mystery comedies, "Seven Keys to Baldpate" will be played. On Saturday to keep up with the theatre will be presented "The Wanted Child," a new play to the east, which will be the closing bill. The management assures all attending the performances of "Thank You," Monday, one of the greatest sensations ever presented on an American stage.

Watch Your Step

And remember that co-operation is the best and grandest thing out, but can't be left to the selfishness of individuals, unless controlled by wise State laws and supervision. That's the reason that I have made such a grand success in Oneonta, as I'm checked and watched by the State banking department, which does not allow me to pay commissions, rake offs or big salaries, but require all gains to be divided equally, and you're going to be sorry if you don't get in with me and have a nice slice of over five million dollars that I am safely rolling up from small amounts at six per cent compound interest. You've seen me do wonders for 25 years and I am now stronger and better than ever before. If my protected co-operation is good enough for some five thousand people and has been tested for 25 years, why ain't it good for you? I'm the safe and sane Oneonta Building and Loan Association. advt 11

THE DEFENSE DAY SPIRIT

ALL ONEONTA AND SURROUNDING TOWNSHIPS JOINING IN NATIONAL MOBILIZATION TEST.

Congressman Charles Springer of Albany at Madison Park Exercises, Following Big Demonstration Parade—Capt. Judge Commander N. B. Rensselaer—Rev. Father Murphy—Major Strong Plan for Unity—Events Successful in Every Way.

While some cities may have had larger Defense Day celebrations than that held in Oneonta yesterday, still certainly in none was the true spirit of the event any more universal, nor more dominating, than that which held Oneonta yesterday afternoon. It was not of war, nor certainly of contented peace, but rather as Rev. Father John Murphy, one of the speakers of the afternoon said, "of defense of the homeland, as imperishable as religion or love."

But the celebration was one of the largest, if not the largest, ever held in Otsego county. Captain Baker of Co. G, chairman of the committee in charge of the celebration, estimating that there were more than 3,000 in the parade and a remarkable number not actively participating but still in the spirit of the day.

The parade formed at the armory and after marching through the residential and business center made its way to Madison park where there were a number of exceptionally fine addresses.

Chairman Mayor Bolton, in opening the meeting, introduced Dr. J. C. Russell, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, who delivered the prayer. After invoking a blessing upon the meeting and all similar gatherings throughout the country, Dr. Russell spoke in praise of the patriots who had given us our country through difficult trials. He said that there was no cause for a misunderstanding of the significance of Defense day, a demonstration in support of the principles of our government. He closed with a hope for one great brotherhood of peace, but one which guaranteed the right of our government.

The "Star Spangled Banner" was led by Jerry Wilson, after which an preliminary to the address, Mayor Bolton expressed Defense day as one on which Americans assembled as loyal and patriotic citizens of our government to show their love for their country, institutions, and homes, and to center their thoughts on national defense.

Condemns Molloy's Non-Resistance

He introduced Captain J. A. Judge, pastor of the Chapin Memorial church, who opened his talk with a bang when he said that he would condemn "this mollicious non-resistance" which is going around our country. A country worth living in is worth fighting for. Rev. Judge continued, and the man or woman who will reap the benefits of his life and not defend that life from invasion should be sent elsewhere.

He also said that while he would see universal peace, that he was of stock that would rather fight than be stock.

He also made a plea to remember

YOUR LAST CHANCE

Final Baseball Games of Season to be Held Today and Sunday at Madison Park—Two Games Assured.

Oneonta fans have but two more ball games this season, and in view of the fact that the present series with Harrisburg has proven one of the most interesting of the whole year, a banner attendance is expected. Games are scheduled for today and Sunday at 2:30 o'clock, but of course there must be a weather proviso: If the game be postponed this afternoon a doubleheader will be staged Sunday beginning at 2 o'clock.

"Jim" Mahady, the smiling Harrisburg pitcher, thinks that he can care for the Oneonta again this afternoon, and so he will unquestionably start today's game. Manager Thomas thinks that Mahady has had things his own way long enough, however, and Clark will take the mound for Oneonta. If a good game were ever assured, it would be this one.

The Oneonta fans given Oneonta an exceptionally fine brand of ball and has proved a winning club. The fans should make every effort toward the best kind of support for the end of the season.

THE REPUBLICAN RALLY

Cross-Country (Village-Dawson) Party Heads Oneonta at Noon Today

The first Republican meeting of the campaign in Oneonta will be held today in Municipal hall. The meeting will be held at noon and will be addressed by United States Senator Fawcett of Ohio, and Congressman A. W. Jeffries of Omaha, Neb. These orators spoke in Albany and Utica on Wednesday, and yesterday in Cortland and Elmira. This morning they leave Binghamton for Oneonta, and will be met at the county line at Oneonta by County Chairman Julian C. Smith, and a representative party of Otsego county Republicans from this city, Cooperstown, Schenectady, Richfield and Unadilla, and doubles from other towns.

Music will be furnished by Company G band which will play before the meeting in front of the Municipal hall, and local Republicans will no doubt also be asked to speak.

Craftsmen at Wilber Park.

With favorable weather, which there is good reason to anticipate, there will doubtless be a large attendance at the basket picnic and field day sports to be held today at Wilber park by the Associated Craftsmen of the Delaware & Hudson company. The picnic will begin at 10 a. m., the dinner will be at noon, and later there will be a concert by Keeton's band and many field sports for which liberal prizes are offered. All are cordially invited to attend.

R. G. CAMP'S SUCCESSFUL WEEK

State Fair Horse Races Took Cash and Won $1,425 in Purses.

The stable of R. G. Camp has had about its luckiest week of the season, he having started his three horses twice each, with the net result that he has captured four first, one second and one third place, with a total earnings of $1,425, while probably not his largest earnings since he first owned a race horse yet quite likely his best consistent winning during that period.

Yesterday, as noted elsewhere in this issue, George CME, owned by himself and M. J. Egan, took first money in the 2:15 class at the Cooperstown fair and the same animal having taken first in the 2:25 class at the same fair on Wednesday.

Last evening he received a message stating that Hollardine, his fast mare, the winner of many hard fought races, took first money in the 2:15 pace at the State fair at Syracuse, with Bud Murray handling the reins. On Wednesday, she also came near winning first and topped second money in a $1,200 purse at the State fair, being nosed out at the wire, but taking second money.

The Peter Pan finishing third, in the fastest heat in his race, at the State fair on Monday last. On Thursday in the 2:05 race at the Oneonta county fair, he started and took first money in three straight heats.

Mr. Camp's horses are all entered in the races at the Oneonta fair next week.

Details Corrected.

In The Star of yesterday, in referring to the manner in which Adolfo Tagliarero sustained his injuries at Neahwa park it was stated that he was engaged in removing forms. The injured man was engaged on the job but as a mason and was not removing the forms, that work being done by a force of carpenters, none of whom were under the supervision of Elmer Bugbee.

HAS NEW DEVICE TO RECORD QUAKES

Greater Accuracy Is Also Promised by Seism.

Washington.—The Georgetown university seismological observatory, which in the last 15 years has given to the world first news of many earthquakes, now assures the public that its reports in the future will be even more dependable.

The university today has among its instruments a new seismograph, known as the Galitzin vertical seismograph, the only one of its kind on this side of the Atlantic.

The special features of this delicate piece of apparatus are magnetic registration and photographic recording, whereby the element of friction in the other types of machines is entirely eliminated. Accordingly, the machine will permit of the recording of many more of the world's quakes and permit of a more accurate interpretation of the writings of a shaking earth.

Doctor Gleberg of the Jena seismological station places the number of quakes felt sensibly or instrumentally the world over from 9,000 to 10,000 yearly. Of these in the past only from 90 to 110 have been annually recorded at Georgetown. Father Francis A. Tondorf, director of the observatory, hopes that this number may now reach from 300 to 400.

When it first was founded in 1911 the Georgetown observatory had only one seismograph—of the Weichert type. It carried a stationary mass of 50 kilos. The rocking during windstorms of the south tower of the Healy building, in whose base the instruments were at first placed, necessitated their removal to a cave beneath the quadrangle.

Father Tondorf inaugurated the work at Georgetown when, in 1910, the International Seismological society requested the Jesuit order, with many colleges in the United States, to establish a chain of stations in this country.

Thrifty Bulldog Has His Own Savings Bank Account

Chicago.—Bim Elbert, a bulldog, earns his own cash and deposits it in a bank. So far as known, he is the only dog who has his own bank account.

Bim is owned by Mrs. Orel Elbert of Sheridan road, and he earns his money by going about the premises and putting things in their proper places. He gets a dime for going to bed promptly, and if he whines or barks his pay is cut off. He carries baskets to and from the market and gets an extra quarter for watching the automobile.

Once a week he takes his collection of quarters and dimes to the bank, stands in front of the receiving teller's window on his hind legs, gets his book back and trots home. His balance was $68 with no withdrawals.

Guard Themselves
When the sunbather is very intense, plants guard against it by either increasing the thickness of their leaves or decreasing their size and number; in the opposite case they increase their leaf surface.

FIX WAR COST AT 80 BILLIONS GOLD

Three Times Cost of United States Government From 1791 to 1913.

New York.—The cost of the World war was $80,000,000,000 gold, according to calculations made by the Bankers Trust company, in which all expenditures were reduced to a gold basis. Figured in the currencies of all the belligerent nations—currencies affected in varying degrees by inflation caused by the issuance of paper money and expanded bank credits in financing the war—the cost converted into dollars at par of the various currencies was $208,000,000,000.

"To arrive at a uniform basis of statement, we have divided the figures of each nation for each year of the war by the wholesale price index number of that nation," says the Bankers Trust. "Thus we have obtained a statement for each nation in terms of 1913 prices. The sum of these figures, $80,000,000,000, may be called the gold cost of the war."

The Bankers Trust company has just published a book covering the financing of the war, to which it has given the title of "Inter-Ally Debts." What $80,000,000,000 gold really means is suggested by comparing the valuation of $20,000,000,000, roughly, put on all the railroads of the United States.

Eighty billion dollars would reproduce all of the railway mileage of the world and there would still be over $20,000,000,000 to spare for some other use—enough to build and equip another railway system as great as that of the United States.

British financial wealth. In 1914 English economists estimated the wealth of the people of Great Britain to be about $70,000,000,000. All of the property of every kind in England, Wales, Scotland and Ireland, the railways, the docks, the shipping, the great factories, the coal, tin and iron mines, in short, all tangible property of every sort and kind, is represented by this $70,000,000,000, and yet the war cost $10,000,000,000 more than this, and $10,000,000,000 is equivalent to the entire tangible wealth of Australia and New Zealand.

Another comparison—the prewar combined wealth of France and Italy was just under $80,000,000,000. The war consumed the unrepayable consumption of goods of a value in gold equivalent to all of the property of every kind of these two great nations of nearly 80,000,000 people; an amount equivalent to the accumulations of centuries wasted in four and one-half years of strife.

It is hard to realize, but it is a fact, that $80,000,000,000 is 60 per cent more than the total cost of government in Great Britain for the two and a quarter centuries which elapsed from the Revolution of 1688 to the beginning of the great war. It cost to meet the expenses of Great Britain for two and a quarter centuries, in round figures, $80,000,000,000.

Other Big Wars.
During this long period of 226 years there were eight major wars, fought at great expense—expense so great that the thinking people of the times were appalled thereby. There were the Wars of William III, costing around $150,000,000; the Wars of Anne, costing over $200,000,000. The Spanish Right of Search war and the War of the Austrian Succession piled up another $200,000,000 or more. The Seven Years' war cost over $250,000,000. Then came the American war, costing over $300,000,000, and finally the Great French wars, lasting from 1792 to 1815, costing around $8,000,000,000. Later on, in the '50s, the Crimean war cost some $350,000,000 and finally the Boer war, which lasted from 1899 to 1902, cost nearly $1,500,000,000. Besides these major wars there were many costly military expeditions, the growing cost of civil government and the ever-present burden of the public debt, and yet this total expenditure of this long period was only about five-eighths of the gold cost of the great war.

Coming home for a final comparison, we find that the expenses of the United States government from its foundation in 1791 through the year 1913, a period of a century and a quarter, were $24,500,000,000—less than one-third of the gold cost of the great war, and yet, during this long period, we fought England in 1812, Mexico in the '90s, the very destructive Civil war in the '60s, and at various times many Indian campaigns, to say nothing of the Spanish war in the '90s.

The expenses of civil government were steadily growing. Our pension roll called for heavy expenditures. To the current expenses of government we could add the Louisiana Purchase, the acquisition of Alaska, the purchase of the Virgin Islands, what we paid Spain for the Philippines and the cost of constructing the Panama canal and even then the figure would be far under a third of the total gold cost of the great war.

Oldest Juniper Tree
Ligon, Utah.—A giant juniper tree discovered recently in Ligon canyon near here is estimated by Dr. Henry Corbin of the University of Chicago to be between 1,200 and 1,400 years old, perhaps the oldest living thing except the redwood trees of California. The tree is 27½ feet in circumference.

Changed Doctors
Doctor Luby had passed on, and many of his patients were complaining Doctor Ford. A little girl, who had a good many brothers and sisters, proudly announced to a neighbor, "We have a new baby at our house." "A new baby?" said the neighbor. "When did you get it?" "Well, we used to have Doctor Luby; now we have Doctor Ford."

$600,000 to Be Spent on the Harding Tomb

Marion, Ohio.—At least $300,000 will be expended in the construction of the Harding memorial tomb and $100,000 in beautifying the memorial site and surrounding area included in the general landscaping scheme, Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, chairman of the executive committee and in charge of national headquarters of the Harding Memorial association here, announced.

General Sawyer has recommended to the executive board of the association that Albert D. Taylor of Cleveland be employed to have charge of the landscaping. Requests urging members of the executive committee to endorse Taylor were telegraphed from headquarters.

Contributions totaling $994,000 have been received to date. Funds in excess of the $600,000 will be set aside as an endowment for the maintenance of the memorial.

TO THE REPUBLICAN VOTERS OF THE THIRTY-FOURTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

The candidacy of John D. Clarke for the Republican Nomination for Congress from this district, we believe, should have the support of those who believe that merit should be rewarded and public officials whose efficiency has been demonstrated should be retained in office. We believe that the great majority of the people, as a business proposition and as a matter of good government, is desirous of the retention of Calvin Coolidge as President. A very prevailing comment and criticism of the last session of Congress was that many of the Congressmen did not stand by and support by their votes the policies which President Coolidge advocated as essential to the maintenance of sound and prosperous business conditions. If President Coolidge is elected and his policies are to succeed he must have the support in Congress of representatives who will co-operate with him. John D. Clarke has on every occasion by his vote in the past supported the President and his policies and undoubtedly if re-elected will so continue to do.

The declared opponent of Mr. Clarke is, we believe, a fine young man but of no experience or demonstrated ability in legislative matters or public affairs. Mr. Clarke on the other hand is a person who, in addition to his proven ability and record of accomplishments, possesses four years of experience in Congress and his pleasing personality has made him many friends. As a Congressman he is influential and efficient and his services at all times have been willingly at the command of his constituents. We believe that it is a poor time to "swap horses while crossing a stream" or to change a desirable certainty for an uncertainty.

We believe it common sense to elect such officials as will give the best returns to those whom they represent and for this reason that Mr. Clarke should be re-elected.

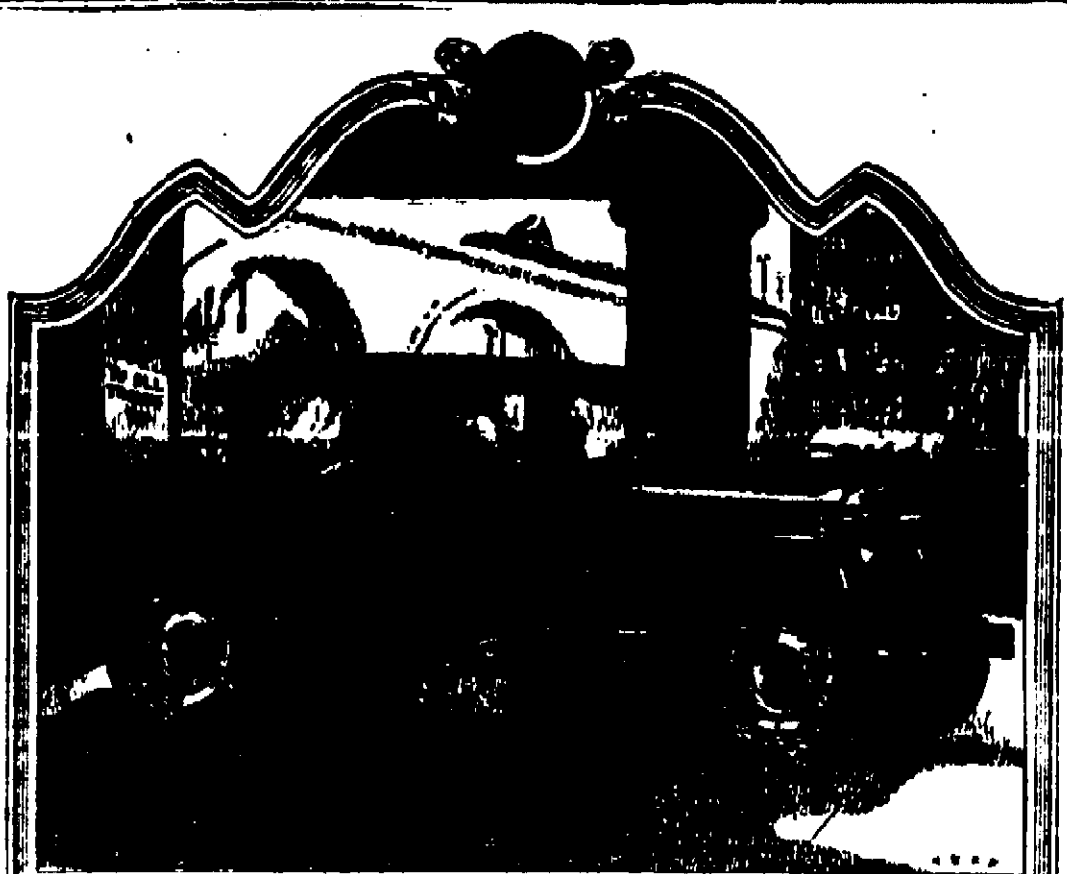

The Republican Primary will be held on the 16th day of September, between the hours of twelve noon and nine o'clock p. m., and we respectfully ask you to be sure to cast your vote at such primary, and solicit your support to the re-nomination of Mr. Clarke.

Quality Gives This Car Distinction

There is a solid, sound quality element about the Rickenbacker, that appeals to conservative, substantial people.

We are informed that this quality element alone, which is present in every part, piece and pattern of Rickenbacker, is very often the determining factor which influences careful buyers to select this carefully made car.

Wherever you find people of good judgment—people who are accustomed to the best things in life—you will find Rickenbacker in goodly numbers.

Folks have a feeling of security in choosing the Rickenbacker. They know their hard-earned money is well invested. They are assured of complete satisfaction. They experience a warm Pride of Ownership.

Then Rickenbacker is such a sweet car to drive. So sensitive to your slightest touch. Also remarkably economical on gas, oil and tires. It performs so consistently—and is so reliable and trustworthy under all circumstances.

Mechanically the car is perfectly balanced—has an endless list of engineering refinements—is harmoniously proportioned—and finally is so good to look at.

Rickenbacker is a family car—yet thoroughly modern—very modish and almost magical in performance.

Either the Vertical 8 or Famous 6 are light in weight—and light in price. Also easy to steer—and easy to purchase, for we will gladly arrange a series of payments, if you so desire.

INDIAN DANCES
LIKE REVIVALS

Ancient Ceremonies Are Mostly Religious in Nature.

Washington, D. C.—Indian ceremonies are rarely understood by other races, and consequently the Indian rites and dances have often been unjustly criticized, says J. N. B. Hewitt of the Smithsonian Institution.

The white man is extremely glib when it comes to believing fantastic tales about the red man. It is no rare occurrence for a witness to appear at a congressional hearing and to testify regarding the evils of Indian dances and later to admit that he has never seen the objectionable rites.

Furthermore, the white man must plead guilty to a lack of sympathetic imagination when he observes the Indian. Aside from some ethnologists, people who do attend Indian ceremonies generally see only the gyrations of painted savages. Sometimes they cannot refrain from showing their amusement and scorn. Sometimes they offend the Indians seriously.

One man who was present at a Navajo snake dance grew righteously indignant at the sight of venomous snakes handled by the dancers, who even placed them in their mouths. When one of the reptiles was laid on the ground the visitor impulsively took a soda pop bottle and tried to kill it. The white man was the Indians' guest, but the snake represented some religious symbol to the dancers, and it was for the time being an object of veneration. Guest as he was, the rash outsider jeopardized his life.

Show Reverence to Nature.

Mr. Hewitt says that the ceremonies of the Indians are incorrectly called pagan. No people have held a more reverent attitude toward nature and the Master of Life than the Indians, he says. By their symbolism they built up a system of associations, so that when they saw the full moon or the budding trees, the ripe corn or the forest animals, they thought of the legends and the significance of those things in life. Considering their "lack of advantages" the Indians put into words an astonishing amount of truth regarding their universe.

The Indian regards the tribal rites and all the symbols that goes with them with the same respect that any other race feels toward its religious observances. A typical feast is the Iroquois planting ceremony, which takes place in the spring. The women and girls dramatize the planting process and sing the songs descriptive of each. Men of the tribe preach and tell the others to treat one another kindly, to avoid lying and gossip, to live peaceably and to be thankful for their blessings.

There is always a feast and dancing at the close of all festivals. They believe that the Master of Life, seeing the people dance, knows that His children are happy and contented. It is all the Indians' way of rendering thanksgiving.

Outsiders not knowing the language and symbolism, are apt to conclude that the Indians are holding a gay party, while, as Mr. Hewitt points out, it is more accurate to compare it to a religious meeting.

Masks Often Misunderstood. Use of hideous masks by certain tribes is a typical source of misunderstanding among white people. The masks do not represent the Indians' idea of beauty, as many people believe, but represent the seven winds which bring diseases. Each type of mask suggests the face of the victim of the disease brought by that wind.

On New Year's day masked men go into each wigwam and put out the fire, clean away the ashes and light ceremonially a new fire. This is not a senseless rite. The ashes of the old fire have collected waste materials and germs for some months, and cleaning the fireplace is a health measure.

There is no doubt that some dances of primitive tribes have included practices which the white man regards as reprehensible. The Indians' practice of slashing themselves and one another with knives during the sun dance has been criticized. So has the reckless handling of snakes, both harmless and venomous, at the snake dance. Charges of immorality in connection with some rites have also been made.

The Indians themselves say that few, if any dances, cut themselves now in the sun dance. The idea of the cutting was to show courage. Sixteen officials of a Pueblo tribe recently denied the implication of immoral practices in their ceremonies by saying: "Our dances are drama, opera and poetry. The womanhood of our people are as sacred to us as the symbolic dance we are trying to defend and preserve."

This statement was made in a petition that the ancestral dances might continue without interference from the government.

The Indian is said to be losing his racial identity, but many tribes will cling to the ancestral faith and ceremonies.

First Turkey in England

Tradition has it that the first turkey was taken to England from America by one of Sebastian Cabot's chief lieutenants. This is supported by the fact that William Strickland, who accompanied Cabot on several of his voyages, adopted a turkey as a crest on his coat of arms and carried it to England.

Concerns Receiving Freight to Pay for Cartage But Railroad Assumes Risk

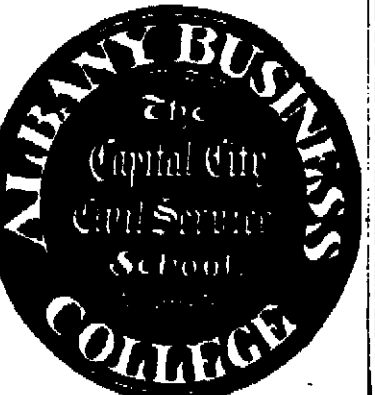

New York, Sept. 12.—Five hundred members of the Atlantic States Shippers' Advisory board, in conference Thursday with railroad executives, approved adoption of the "door-to-door delivery" plan under which railroads will maintain fleets of trucks for the transportation of merchandise from shippers' plants to car-loading points. It was stipulated that, although the shipper shall bear the expense of the trucking service, the railroad shall assume full responsibility for shipments to and from the store-door of the shipper.

The plan, as proposed by the executive committee of the advisory board—a regional organization of manufacturers and railroad chiefs designed to iron out traffic problems—will gradually be put into operation on all large Atlantic seaboard lines.

New York, Sept. 12.—Directors of the Carolina, Clinchfield & Ohio railroad have authorized the signing of the 999-year lease for joint control of the road by the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company and the Louisville & Nashville Railroad company, under conditions proposed by the Interstate Commerce commission. The action paves the way for linking the property of the Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville & Nashville roads through the use of two branch lines to be constructed by the latter, in addition to the Clinchfield railway.

Lanchester Balancer Adopted
by Willys-Knight is Acclaimed

Automotive engineers and mechanical experts are impressed by Willys-Knight's new refinement, the Lanchester Balancer, in eliminating vibration. Read these comments.

Glenn Curtiss

Famous Airplane Inventor

"It is surprising. I drove the car (Willys-Knight Sedan) at all speeds up to 50 miles an hour and found absolutely no vibration."

W. E. Best

Works Manager, Remington Cook Register

"The smoothness of the motor was a revelation. The driver increased the speed from 15 miles an hour to approximately 45 miles and, as far as I could detect, with no vibration. It would seem that the balancer is doing the trick and gives six-cylinder operation as far as smoothness is concerned."

Hiram P. Maxim

President, Maxim Silencer Company

"The Lanchester Balancer certainly takes out the vibration. It makes the motor smoother than most of the six and eight-cylinders on the road today."

Maurice Olley

Rolls-Royce, Production Manager

"From the demonstration there is no doubt that the elimination of the inherent harmonic vibration, by means of the rotating balancer, has been attained in practice to a degree which is very satisfactory to the passenger."

Willys-Knight scores again. To its famous sleeve-valve engine, that improves with use, it adds a perfection long sought by many motor cars—the elimination of vibration.

How Much
Have You?

It's great to have a million—

A fellow can stand pat.

Or e'en a hundred thousand—

A man can live on that.

And fifty thousand dollars

It not so very bad.

If I could get but thirty

I'd be almighty glad.

I might say that five thousand

Would not look bad to me;

Or even, say, twelve hundred—

That's not so bad to see.

Five hundred's not so fancy—

Some folks would call it tame

But I would take one hundred

And be glad just the same.

And get right down to fifty—

Some people call that small;

But twenty-five is better

Than having none at all.

Ten dollars is small money;

But mercy sakes alive;

There certainly are times when

It's great to have a five.

Judge Would Make Marriage Difficult, Divorce Easy, To Solve Problem

(Readers: Judge T. O. Hathcock, of Atlanta's Municipal court, is said to have performed more marriages than any other man in Georgia. Here he sets forth his views on the marriage problem that confronts every state and city. Do you agree with him? If not, what is your solution?)

By Judge T. O. Hathcock
Judge of the Municipal court of Atlanta.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 12.—I think marriage throughout the United States should be made more difficult, so that divorces can be easier obtained when they are necessary, and I do not think I am a bit radical about my viewpoint.

At present our divorce courts are crowded with hundreds of cases that are there because marriage was so easy, and afterwards finding themselves ill-mated it is difficult for unhappy men and women to get free of each other.

Divorce is a splendid thing when two people find they cannot live together.

It is my belief that a union should be dissolved if it is clearly demonstrated that the man and woman never were suited for each other. I do not mean that I favor promiscuous divorces, because I don't.

I believe that if the marriage laws were strengthened and it were much harder to get married than it is today, the divorce courts would find time hanging on their hands with nothing to do.

Publication of marriage banns for at least 30 days prior to the marriage in newspapers and posting of the banns in the courthouses of the county, just like they do in Europe, would be one means of safeguarding marriages. It would absolutely stop hasty marriages and elopements—the greater majority of which end in the divorce court.

Then there should be a penalty attached to false swearing as to age, physical condition, etc., in the application for marriage license, and the father, mother or legal guardian of both parties should be required to swear that the statements made in the application are true.

As it is now, statements about age can be made falsely and nothing can be done about it, because there is no penalty for false swearing.

A certificate of sound health, specifying that there is no physical or mental reason why the party should not be married should be presented by both parties from a reputable physician who has made a thorough examination of both before the license should be granted.

Uniform marriage laws throughout the country, as well as uniform divorce laws, some day will be placed on the statute books, and when they are marriages will be much harder and divorce much easier. Until that time, however, I think that the states themselves should look into the matter of ending so many hundreds of divorces each year. This can only be accomplished by making the marriage laws more stringent.

People who consider marriage some time before they actually take the step are pretty nearly certain to "stick it out," but those that "just get married" on the spur of the moment are keeping our divorce courts crowded, and it should be cleared up now.

DAVE DANFORTH—THE CROWN SPEED BALL PITCHER—OFTEN ACCUSED OF USING AN ILLEGAL DELIVERY

This seems to be a southpaw year. The portable finger, are coming through with a bang. Yae, Noe, Eustice, Cooper and others have been making things miserable for the opposing batters in the National league, while Whitehill, Danforth, Pennock, Gaston and Shaute have won considerably more games than they have lost in the American League.

Emil Yoe—who calls himself "Ede," with the "E" sounded broad—is one of the best looking young pitchers in the older circuit. He is only 22 years old and is a very good batter, as well as a scintillating twirler.

Pennock, who was the most effective southpaw in his league last year, is continuing right along on his way to another leadership. This is Herb's thirteenth season in the majors, and the tall, frail Quaker, who makes brains do the work of brawn, is proving that he isn't superstitious.

Dave Danforth has been one of the mainstays of Slater's Browns. The dentist from Texas has had his speed ball working great this season. Earl Whitehill and his teammate and fellow southpaw, Ed Wells, have made monkeys out of the world's champions.

They are two of Cobb's rookies to deliver the goods consistently this year. Little Art Nehf, a heroic figure among southpaws for seven seasons, is away up among the leaders of the National league pitchers.

PREDICTS TRANSLANTIC FLIGHTS IN TWO HOURS

A. Lindquist, Swedish Airplane Constructor, Grapples With High Altitude Problem.

Stockholm.—Flights between Europe and America in two hours at an altitude of ten miles and with 2,000 horsepower motors are forecast by A. Lindquist, a well-known Swedish airplane constructor, in a statement published by a leading Stockholm paper.

One of the greatest ideas in aviation in the immediate future should be to cut down the flying time between continents, says Mr. Lindquist, and this probably can be done by flying at extremely high altitudes.

The effect of gravitation decreases with the increase in altitude, and it has been estimated, he says, that a plane which has a speed of 100 miles an hour near the surface of the earth can attain a speed of 1,500 miles an hour at an altitude of about ten miles.

At such a height the rarity of the atmosphere would constitute a disadvantage both to the ordinary motor and the ordinary propeller. But this difficulty can be overcome, declares Mr. Lindquist, by using a propeller with adjustable blades, so that the pitch of the blades could be altered with the density of the air, and by using special compressors for the motor which would compensate for the decrease in barometric pressure at high altitudes.

Such a motor probably would have to develop about 2,000 horsepower. Mr. Lindquist declares that the problems of the adjustable propeller and aerial compression motor can be solved.

May Use Airships to Explore West's Deserts

London.—The suggestion was made to the world power conference by Doctor Tamm of Austria that the United States might actually employ its new Zeppelins, the ZH-3, now being completed in Germany, in the surveying of the arid regions of the West for water-bearing soils and various ores.

Doctor Tamm explained that the airship could be used for this purpose by utilizing a new process now being perfected whereby short radio waves can be sent out continuously. If these waves are reflected from the ground under survey, he said, it will be an indication of the presence of water and ore.

Attach Tags to Salmon to Trace Their Travels

Juneau, Alaska.—Movements of salmon of various species from the North Pacific ocean to their spawning grounds in the southeastern Alaska district will be charted this summer for the first time in history, according to Assistant Fisheries Agent E. M. Ball.

Five thousand salmon will be tagged, released and a reward of 50 cents each offered for their return with the information of how, when and where captured.

The reward is a big one for fishermen who are accustomed to obtain only 25 cents for a large salmon at fishing ports. Even a lower scale is common by canneries.

Ancestral Homes Divided by the Heirs in Tahiti

Papeete, Tahiti.—Here and there on the island of Tahiti may be seen fragments of houses; houses with the ends cut away, exposing bare rooms inclosed on three sides while the fourth remains open to the weather; houses with verandas gone; houses cut in half; others with their iron roofs taken away. Inquiry brings to light the information that these forlorn exhibits represent the workings of the French inheritance laws as applied to Tahiti.

In former times when the head of the family died the title to the property was vested in the eldest child, who conserved it for the benefit of the family at large. But the French laws have done away with this. They decree that each heir shall come into full possession of his share of any property. In consequence the courts of Papeete are congested with land litigation. The usual bottle ground is the homestead, which generally is a wooden building of many rooms, crowned by a corrugated iron roof and surrounded by a broad veranda. The eldest son or daughter holds the fort there. But the others, after much litigation, establish their right to shares.

Armed with court orders, saws, chisels and other implements of destructive carpentry, they come and dismember the ancestral mansion, each taking his fragment to his own domain. What is left remains the heritage of the eldest, and until he can gather substance to repair the damage his domicile continues a melancholy monument to family disharmony, and he camps in the one or two rooms still sheltered.

Dog Saves His Mistress

Port Jervis, N. Y.—Mrs. Henry Tachody, sixty, of Matamoras, Pa., was stricken with paralysis while picking huckleberries in the mountains of Pike county, Pa., the other day. Her dog realized something was wrong with his mistress, who lay unconscious, and, by continuous barking, attracted other berry pickers. It was necessary to get the woman's husband before the dog would permit any one to touch his mistress. Mrs. Tachody was carried on an improvised stretcher through the steep rocky mountains, a mile to the nearest road, where an automobile and physicians were waiting. She was taken home.

An investigation by the Bureau of Mines established the fact that of every dollar spent for sluggish, slow-vaporizing gasoline—30¢ never turns a wheel. Recently, the Bureau found that of 129 samples of gasoline tested, 56 failed to meet Federal specifications.

Why gamble with your gasoline dollar? Why not invest it in Tydol Economy Gasoline and get 100 cents worth of mileage and power?

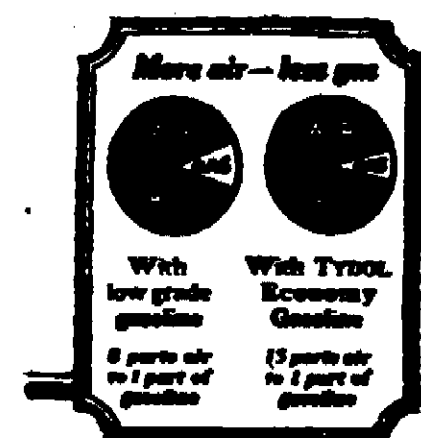

Tydol vaporizes fast. It enters the cylinders as a finely atomized mist—15 parts of air, 1 part of Tydol. That's why Tydol burns clean and carbonless. That's why Tydol gives you that extra power punch. That's why there's always Tydol left when you think the tank is dry.

Fill up with more mileage at one of the black and orange pumps. They are everywhere.

Republican Candidate for Congress

THREE QUESTIONS

Asked of MR. TOLLEY

By Newspaper Supporter of CONGRESSMAN CLARKE

and

MR. TOLLEY'S ANSWERS

Binghamton, N. Y.,
September 8, 1924.

Editor Arthur C. Wyer,
The Delaware Express,
Delhi, N. Y.,

Dear Sir:

Your editorial of August 29th, entitled, "TO MR. TOLLEY," has just been brought to my attention. I thank you for your courteous offer to publish my reply.

You ask if I will pledge "support to the policies of economy, retrenchment in taxation and conservation of the public wealth which have been outlined in the public speeches and demonstrated in the public acts of President Coolidge." I whole-heartedly pledge support thereto.

I also pledge support to another policy, outlined in the speeches and demonstrated in the life and acts of President Coolidge, namely—Obedience to and Enforcement of Law.

President Coolidge voiced that policy in his message to the Congress in December, 1923. He said:

"Free government has no greater menace than disrespect for authority and continual violation of law. It is the duty of a citizen not only to observe the law, but to let it be known that he is opposed to its violation."

Believing as I do in the principle so clearly defined by Mr. Coolidge, who, I think, is the most safe, sane and sincere President since Roosevelt, you may be sure that in my support of the President I will not flout his appeal for law observance by self-indulgence.

The second question asked is whether or not I "approve or disapprove of the support which the present Congressman has accorded the President?" You do not specify the support which the present Congressman has accorded the President.

I do not know of the present Congressman having accorded any support to President Coolidge's demand for the enforcement and observance of law.

Your other question, the third and last, is: "Do you think it wise to await a fuller discharge of the debt the nation owes disabled and incapacitated soldiers before further grants are made the physically and mentally fit?" To that I answer "Yes."

As a Service Officer of the American Legion, devoting time and energy in aiding my disabled comrades, I possess first hand information as to their needs. The proper care of these incapacitated soldiers will be my first interest in Veteran Legislation.

Very truly yours,

HAROLD S. TOLLEY.
